

Pam Kestner-Chappelear
Kristi Stilen-Lare

Statewide Information & Referral
November 21, 2005

What is 2-1-1?

- Easy to remember phone number for FREE access to health and human services
- In Virginia, the Statewide Information & Referral System is preparing to make the transition to 2-1-1 VIRGINIA

When will 2-1-1 be available?

- 2-1-1 is being tested throughout the state
- 2-1-1 will be launched publicly in February 2006 in the following regions: Richmond, Tidewater, Central Virginia, Northwest Virginia, Southwest Virginia
- Northern Virginia will launch in 2006-07
- Today 46% of the U.S. population can dial 2-1-1

Projected Cost for 2-1-1

- To launch 2-1-1 on a 24/7 basis in five regions in 2005-06, $503,000 is needed to cover start-up costs
- Estimated cost for the 2-1-1 system is $3.4 million annually with approximately $1.7 million in existing funds
- Leaving $1.7 million to be secured on an annual basis

Why we need 2-1-1 now!

- During Hurricanes Katrina and Rita 2-1-1s in Louisiana and Texas proved a valuable resource during times of disaster
- In LA, 2-1-1 was promoted as the number to call for help, to ask about evacuation, and to donate goods or services. The 2-1-1 center that fielded the most calls took more than 8,000 calls a day
- In TX, ads ran calling 2-1-1 “the go to number for evacuee needs and volunteerism”. The Texas 2-1-1 system took more than 267,000 calls during and immediately after the hurricanes

Virginia Commission on Youth and
Statewide Information & Referral
Working Together to bring
2-1-1 VIRGINIA

2-1-1 VIRGINIA Contacts:

- Pam Kestner-Chappelear, President
Council of Community Services
540.985.0131 extension 101
pamkc@councilofcommunityservices.org
- Kristi Stilen-Lare, 2-1-1 Coordinator
540.985.0131 extension 211
kristisl@councilofcommunityservices.org